the truth of the report, and not one have we met who had heard of anything of the kind, nor have we seen one who expects to close his house that day, not feeling that there is any necessity for a step so extraordinary, or that such a course will or can result in any good whatever. Will the reporter here tell us upon what authority this dispatch was sent abroad? and why It was telegraphed East and West and North had determined on this course, while the thern dispatch said the "merckants of the Union party ?" This Information will ot only be interesting, but it may help to explain the Mayor's proclamation and to culighten us as to the objects of those who suggested this proposition.

LA RUE'S PANOPTICON-ADMISSION RE-.- We are gratified to anuounce that Mr. La Ruc will continue his popular nechanical representations of India, at Mozart Hall, another week. This entertainment has afforded great satisfaction during the past two weeks, and has nightly cen greeted with fashionable and crowded ces, who have universally expressed their admiration of the exhibition in eu thuslastic applause. As the price of admission has been reduced to 15 cents for adul s, and 15 cents for children aud servants, we may reasonably expect to see Mozart Hall erowded every night this The triumphs of the Panopticon in Louisville, as well as throughout the United States, have been of the most solid char ethe ignus futues, but a light, ready a. vent, like that which emanates f. .. the moonday snu, still illumines its . ssful career. In after years, Mr. La R . l'anopticon of India will be referre to as among those rare productions wi . cuchanted the world, and even as "di. : ance lends enordinary achievement of mechanical luge nuity be held as a luminary whose beams far outshone the dim rays of similar amusements of the day. The play to-night is a new one, called the Field of the Forty Footsteps, gathered from the abnadance of romantle lucidents to he found in the stirring times of the English revolution—the plots, conspira-cies, and battles between the Crown and the Parliament of Charles I. This drama entirely new, we believe, to the American stage, will be followed by that of Robert Macaire, more familiarly known to us by the pantomine of the Rivels, but more is tonec in laterest as a drama. It is of Freuch origin, and to its merits the Freuch stage owes the development of the genius erick Le Maitre. An excellent bill alto-

A Word to the Voters of Louisville. The Union is in danger. A sectional party, based on a fanatical and unreasonray hostility to the lustitutions and coustitational rights of fifteen sovereign States. has attained such power as to justify the hopes of its leaders that they will succee in cleening a President and obtaining con trol of the Federal Covernment. The suc cess of this party, it is believed by many o the wisest men of all parties in the country, will be regarded as a declaration of war against the slaveholding States, and may be the signal for a disruption of the co-federacy. Against this dangerous organization the Democratic party is errayed a bold and defiant opposition; and upon the election of BRECKINEIDGE and LANE the only opponents of Lincoln and llam-IIN, hangs the hopes of the nation. Die guise It as much as poseible, this is the rate of the contest, and no human power can order it otherwise-between BRECKIN-RIDGE and LINCOLN the choice must and Fellow-citizens of Louisville' no people is America, we believe, are more devotad to the Union than you are-none, we are sure I ave more real, direct interest in its pro servation! By your action the result ma be determined! We entreat you by the interests you have at stake, by your hopes 1. r the future, by the love you bear your vives and little ones, by the reverence you have for your fathers whose valor wou ou lare a year, has hitherto bean almost exclu beloved State from savage wildness and ·ively with Cincinnath. For almost the whose wisdom framed its government, b your attachment to our common country Iv everything that should appeal to the Leart of a man, a lineband, a father, or a good citizen, to pause before casting your otes to-morrow, to ponder well the cousequences that may follow the exercise your right of suffrage on that most impor tant of all occasious! You owe this no less to yourselves and your familles tha to your country. We make this appeal no as a partisan, for If there ever was a tim

Sit:—You live on the Southern confine of what is perhaps the best belt of wheat land in the United States. I reside a short d stance West of the linest grazing distrila this, or perhaps any ether country. You have, with great propriety, and peamit he to say great ability, recently produced a most elaborate treatise on "the Wicat Plintt," in the course of which you have fally vindicated the claims of that important staple of your State, to the more nareful culture, of the great mass of American traners. I might, with equal propriety, though not equal ability, render to me CRASS PLANT semewhat of the Service which you have rendered to its near relation; but I feel shat I do not pessess anything of the learning of my subject, which you have rendered to its near relation; but I feel shat I do not pessess anything of the learning of my subject, which you have evinced of yours, nor have I the lane, or the temper, far that assidnousness of research which has made your volunical sating monument of interesting and valuable facts.

Now oth I ss., I have from boyhood give more or less attention to the wild and the cultivated grasses of the Ohio Vallay, and for the past on years especially, becuracesread which they are afterwards subjected. I have also, on proper occasions, verbally, and by means of the priss, protested against these abuses and this want of care, and plead for a better system and better treatment. In this objugatory work, I have do bulless had the company and assistance of hundreds of others, perhaps thousands, in the thine. Yet slovenliness, niggardinses near all the lealing toarkets! During virious excursions into different parts of Onio and linding, for the past woo or three years, I have been amazed at the overhadowing presence of white blesson, decer, and other pests in meadows; and in Kentucky, naturally unequalled in pastoral ocauty, go almost when I will, where I may, i find not only f

a great deal better than control, these who and facat with them; and if so, why should a quiet, peace-loving, striffe-hather man, such as I am, work himself into a rage over their short-comings? or get-up an indignation meeting in his chamber, with pen, ink and paper for spectators? orgivevent to an expression of his ill-feeting in a letter to the honored Secretary of a great State Board of Agriculture? Way should he; I will not: not even for patriotism—much less for humanab: but instead thereof, I will hold a little talk with you about one of the grasses of this region, which, though my first favorite, is much suggicted by winner. And, tothe-endthat I may have "an antience" and not "fed," I will ask our fri and Brawn, of the thine Farner, to red as gentlemen usher forms on the occasion. But first, let use premise this: that—three-green and dried, posture and hay—is the most valuable crop produced in the United States. Any other, wheatalone excepted, could be more easily dispensed with than this.

It is said, for example, that it makes a cearser lay than timothy, and is more wordy and fibrous. It is also said that, in consequence of its natural habit of growing at task, or these cits, it is defill all toget it is ever the promote eventy, and is yes side. It makes a consequence of its natural habit of growing at task, or these cits, it is defill all toget it is ever the promote eventy, and is yes side. I can be compared great ward!

I let these objections, after all, are rather and compared great ward!

I let these objections, after all, are rather and compared great ward.

I let the se objections, after all, are rather and great than make said:—(a reful and great in the promote great of the intervent of the promote of the promote of the promote of or chard great. I let difference is not very great; and hence it is but reas make to continue, the where orehand greats hay has been found "courser and more wordy and literons" than timedity, to an extent sufficiently render that a valid objection to it, the fault has lain with the time of curity and the manner of curing, and has not belonged to the great itself.

As to the objection to orehand grass de-caused a great many well combinated experimation to be made in New England, with many kinds of grass. The Oat grasses, the several varieties of Rye grass, and all the seated varieties of Rye grass, and all the seated of the seated and another of them, however, is much importance attached at this day as grasses for meadow, white each and all of them are considered of value to mix with the numerous varieties into which the P rand Aprostis families are divided, as grasses for positive. The favorite lay grass of New England in general, but more expecially in Massachusetts and Maine, is now Timothy, certical there Herds grass,) with an admixture of either Red Top (agrosts ordysta) or Red Clover, and sometimes of both. The Massachusetts farmers also etch leavy swaths in meadows of a grass (post wrotero) supposed to have been introduced there from Germany more than a cuttury ago, that makes a very nutritious hay, and allords a heavysatermath for grazing—which Timothy never due. This grass is commonly called Fowl Meadow, but is known in some sections as Duck grass, and in others as Swatna-wiregrass. I have never, to my knowledge, been introduced into the Ohio Valley, but would probably, judging from its peculiar charater and habits, be a valuable grass in the South and South-West, on rich, moist the view of those regions.

In New York, Pennsylvania, and other addle States, as far Westward, Indeed, as Ore, farmers generally regard Timothy as by far them as valuable grass for nosedows, anewhat intermixed with our favored properly and spear or June grass, which latter is identical with our favored properly and the injury done to that grass by far them as valuable grass for rosedows, and surface, say off are a sare, sew Hindshy alone, for the reason that pare Timothy key commands in general a nigher price and reader sale than hay of any other description. Most farmers, now ver, are compeled to turn stock upon in the second price of the same a test and the fact of the meadow.

The practice in Indiana is very in chite sorted

Initially with the time of runting and the maner of curring, and has not belonged to the gravitistif.

Many years ago, Col. Lewis Sanders, an intelligent and energatic furmer of our State, continued trany careful and long continued experiments with single grasses and grasses in combination, for the purpose of satisfying himsest what was best for meadow, all things considered, and what least for produce in sections where blue grass did not spring up spontaneously, or take hold of the soil with freedom and returnity when sown. And the conclusionat which he finally arrived, were in accordance with the judgment that I leave expressed as to the orchard grass. My own observation and experience, with refer-
